Thruway Termed Urgent Need as Section Opens

Governor Dewey Speaks at Catskill Exercises Marking Completion of 10-Mile Portion; Senator Wicks Gives Introduction of Executive

Governor Dewey said today the Korean war and "grimmer possibilities" made the $450,000,000 state thruway "even more clearly urgent" than before.

Return of Two Awaited From Korean Front

Washington, July 14 (AP)—A decision on whether to call the National Guard and Armed Forces Reserves to active duty may be reached soon after the return tomorrow of two members of the joint chiefs from the Far East.

An informed official said today the Defense Department is awaiting their return before deciding finally on whether to recommend those steps to the White House.

The department apparently has advised the White House that such action may be necessary, but has not forwarded a definite recommendation.

General J. Lawton Collins, army chief of staff, and General Hoyt Vandenberg, the air force chief, are due in Washington tomorrow. They have been in Tokyo conferring with Gen. Douglas MacArthur on his needs.

Will Bring Information
With them they presumably will bring the latest picture of the Korean War, including whatever fresh requests MacArthur may have made.

While Collins and Vandenberg have been away, the strategy-making joint chiefs have been operating with only two members, Gen. Omar Bradley, the chairman, and Admiral Forrest Sherman, the chief of naval operations.

Question Is Urgent
The question of calling at least some guard units and reservists to active duty becomes increasingly urgent as the Korean War begins to compel the United States to send over units from its mobile reserve at home.

One army division and elements of other divisions already have been earmarked for assignment to the Far East in the near future. The problem now is to replace the strength at home through tapping the civilian reserves.

Gives Warning
Istanbul, Turkey, July 14 (AP)—The U. S. consulate general distributed a circular among American residents here today telling them what to do in case trouble breaks out. The letter, signed by Consul General W. Lewis, said no emergency was foreseen, but that he wanted the colony to know what measures have been taken for evacuation should it ever be necessary. Nearly 100 Americans live in Istanbul.

Michigan Shivers

Close to Freezing Weather Is Recorded; Goes as Low as 36

(By The Associated Press)
Temperatures dipped close to the freezing mark in parts of Michigan today in a mid-July cool spell.

The cool air which spread over the Great Lakes and the middle Mississippi valley moved into the eastern states today, bringing relief from hot and humid weather. Early morning readings included 36 at Grand Marais, Mich., and 38 at Cadillac and Kalamazoo. They were in the 40s over most of the rest of Michigan and parts of northern Wisconsin. The cool air sent temperatures down as much as 25 degrees in Michigan.

Warm and humid weather continued in the southeastern and extreme southern states. Seasonal temperatures were reported over most of the western half of the country.

U.S. Would Accept Aid Of Others

Official Washington Says Main Battle Burden Will Fall Upon Our Forces

Talks Are Held

United Nations Are Told How This Country Feels

Washington, July 14 (AP)—The United States is quietly informing other interested United Nations members that it would welcome participation of their ground forces in the fighting in Korea.

There is no expectation among top officials here, however, that the main burden of battle can or will be borne by other than American troops. Several reasons are advanced for this, the chief one being that the United States is the nation in the best possible position to do the job.

President Truman was asked at his news conference yesterday what he thought about ground forces from other countries joining the fight. He simply referred to a news conference statement which Secretary of State Acheson had made on Wednesday.

Acheson said the State Department was discussing the problem with the United Nations and the army. Obviously, he added, any offer of troops would be most helpful.

Problem Dramatized
The problem has been dramatized by demands in Congress for a greater effort by other United Nations members in the Korean war, and it is reported to have been a source of concern to top authorities in both the State and Defense Departments.

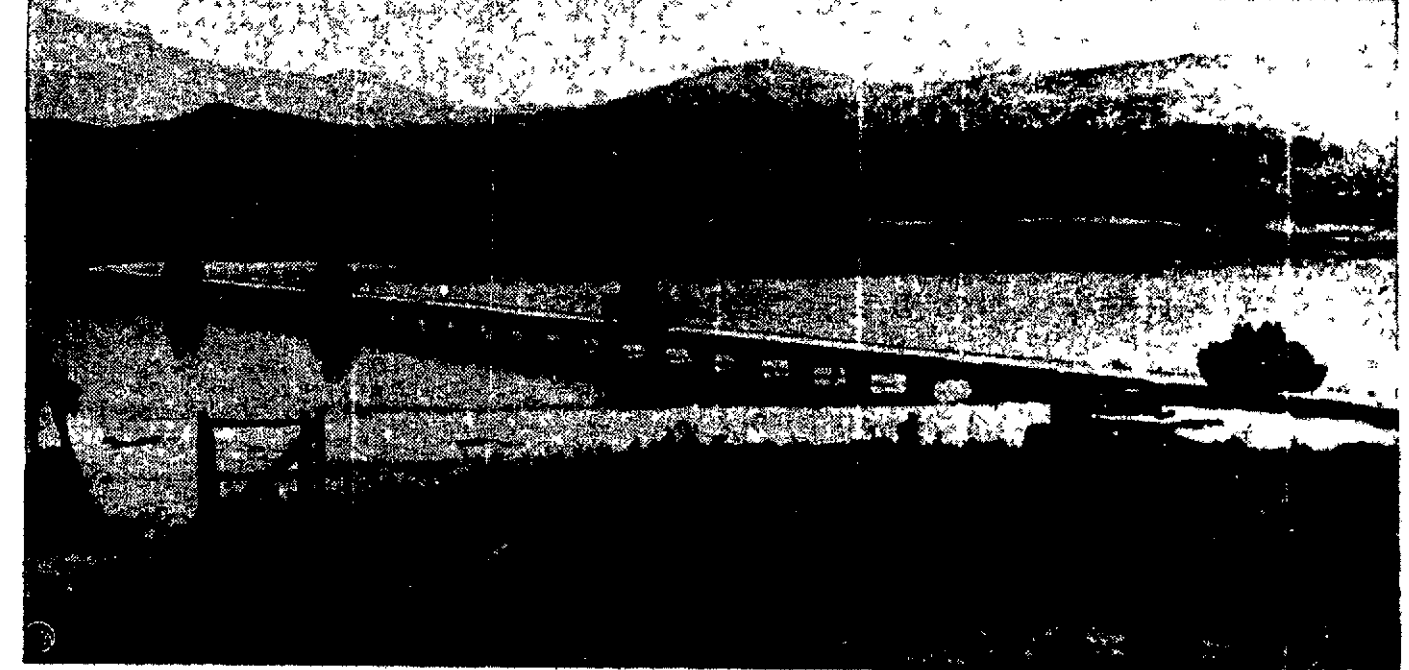

Meanwhile there have been reports that the government of Pakistan was considering offering troops to Gen. Douglas MacArthur, the U. N. commander for Korea, and that some other governments, so far undisclosed were also thinking about making offers.

The only foreign proposal to date came from the Chinese Nationalist regime on Formosa, and reportedly has been discouraged by MacArthur on two grounds: (1) That the Nationalist troops are needed for the defense of Formosa against the Communists, and (2) their use in Korea might bring the Chinese Reds in on the side of the North Koreans.

Considered Most Able
Britain and France are the countries generally considered most able to take over a share of the fighting and to operate alongside American forces. Actually, (Continued on Page 16, Col. 5)

'Give Them Time,' Sums Up Europe's Reaction to Yanks

Youth and Girl Sought by Police

Mildred Marinara, 16, Believed to Have Eloped Tuesday

Mrs. Anne Abbate, sister of Mildred Marinara, 16, of 49 West O'Reilly street today made an appeal for the return home of Mildred, who, the family believe, eloped to get married earlier this week.

Mrs. Abbate said: "We want Mildred to know that her mother is ill and needs her at home." Police were notified at 6:15 p. m. Tuesday that Mildred and James Richard Rodman, 19, who had been boarding at the Marinara home "for the past week... but has known the girl for some time." (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

Some Doubts Heard, Also Criticism of Way America Handles War

London, July 14 (AP)—From Scandinavia to the Mediterranean, non-Communist western Europeans reacted with the same phrase today to American setbacks in Korea. It was "Give them time."

Outside those circles obedient to Moscow, the feeling among both press and public was that, despite heavy odds, the American G.I.'s would pull out of the hole.

There were, however, some doubts and some criticisms. In Norway and Finland, both neighbors of Russia, the man in the street wondered out loud whether the needed reinforcements of men and materiel would be too little and too late. Some Finns found the state of U. S. preparedness in the Pacific a chilling eye-opener. They were impressed with the apparent military ability of the North Koreans.

Odds Are Stressed
Everywhere, in conversation and in the press, the fact most underscored was the enormity of the odds against which the Americans were fighting.

Almost the only sharp non-Communist criticism of America's Korean effort came from Rome's moderate, pro-government II Momento.

"The fact alone that America has to halt mobilize to oppose a semi-barbarian state, a country that is the last (least powerful) of the Soviet satellites, will mean for America a loss of prestige which a late and painfully secured victory will not be able to regain," it wrote.

Reds Build Tanks
During the past five years, II Momento went on, while President Truman and his various secretaries (Continued on Page 16, Col. 2)

Man Loses $2,100 DeWitt Seeks Wallet

Maynard DeWitt of Kerhonkson reported the loss of $2,100 following a tour of the uptown shopping area yesterday afternoon.

Attorney William A. Kaercher, whose office DeWitt had visited, reported to the local police at 9:15 p. m. that his client had lost a reddish brown wallet containing one $500 bill, 16 $100 bills, operator's license, social security and extra car key.

Attorney Kaercher said DeWitt had parked his car in the lot near the county clerk's office, had visited that office, went to Molloy's store on Wall street, to Kaercher's office, 54 John street, later went back to the clothing store and then home where he discovered the loss at about 5 p. m.

Air Defense Unit To Be at Newburgh

Will Leave Mitchell Field for Stewart Base in Few Weeks

Mitchell Field, N. Y., July 14 (AP)—Headquarters of the Eastern Air Defense Force will be moved from Mitchell Field to Stewart Air Force base, near Newburgh, N. Y., the air force announced today.

The transfer is expected to be made late this month or early in August. At the start 125 to 150 of the personnel will be moved to the new headquarters. How many more might follow was not disclosed.

Brig. Gen. George Acheson, vice commander of the Eastern Air Defense Force, has written letters to mayors of all communities within commuting distance of Newburgh asking them to cooperate in the search for housing for the families of the personnel. Transfer of the headquarters follows recent reorganization of (Continued on Page 16, Col. 4)

Russian Line Is Suspected; Truman Cautions in Reply

Pentagon Watches Stories of Concentrations of Chinese Reds; May Feed In Help

By ELTON C. FAY
Washington, July 14 (AP)—Russia may be trying to lure the United States into so great a military effort in Korea that it could be helpless to challenge large-scale aggression elsewhere.

Illustrating this is a question posed for President Truman at a news conference yesterday and his cautious reply.

He was asked, "Are we prepared to resist aggression everywhere in the world?"

His reply was that "the situation would have to be met as it developed."

Military leaders at the Pentagon attach importance to persistent rumors of concentration of Chinese Communist forces and the enrollment of Russian volunteers for the aid of the North Korean Communist army.

But this foreign-power help may not be thrown suddenly into the war to crush South Koreans and drive American forces out of Korea for a quick victory. Instead, the Moscow-dictated strategy may be to feed the help in gradually, always maintaining superiority in force—and compelling the United States to put more and more divisions, planes and warships into the campaign.

Can Watch Americans
Meanwhile in these early months of the war, the Korean campaign will afford Russia opportunity to measure the battle-skill of American troops, airmen and sailors and—equally important—the effectiveness of American weapons.

It can also provide an index for the Russians to decide how determined and how prepared the United States is to fight at any point where Moscow pushes the remote-control button of war.

Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, was reported by Chairman Tydings (D-Md.) of the Senate Armed Services Committee as having said Defense Department and other officials are carefully watching five or six "sensitive areas" aside from Korea.

These areas were not specifically identified by Tydings, but obviously they included such points as the powder-hog in Europe, the Middle East, Southeast Asia, Formosa and the Philippines. Aggression could occur at any one or many of these "sensitive" points.

Another Question
Along with this is another question that must be faced when, as American chiefs are confident, the tide of battle turns and the North Korean invaders of the Free Republic of Korea are rolled back.

Does the "police action," which Mr. Truman still uses to designate the Korean situation, contemplate pushing on northward past the (Continued on Page 16, Col. 3)

Guerrilla Force Hits US Artillery

Communists Try to Cut American Positions; No Word Is Given on Reinforcements

US Uniforms Worn

Green Twill of Yanks Is Garb of North Korean Unit

Advanced American Headquarters, Korea, Saturday, July 15 (AP)—Intense fighting flared on the American Kum river front late last night after a small Communist force crossed the river despite U.S. artillery and plane attacks.

A headquarters spokesman said Communist guerrillas hit an American artillery unit in force while Red artillery hammered American lines.

The Communist guerrillas wore green twill fatigue uniforms such as the Americans wear, the spokesman said.

Presumably the uniforms were taken from American dead or from G.I. prisoners, the spokesman reported.

"They don't operate according to any rules of uniformed warfare," he added.

Has Been Building
The infiltration behind American lines has been building up for the past several days, and the attack on American artillery positions disclosed the guerrilla mustering of strength, the spokesman said.

The Communist Kum river crossing was reported made west of Kongju by a force of little more than 100 men.

The guerrilla attack in the rear, plus intensive night fighting with an artillery barrage showed the Communists had launched their full-scale attack to breach the Kum river line which guards Taejon, vital rail and highway center.

South Korean police ordered an alert and midnight curfew in Taejon, 20 miles southeast of Kongju. The Reds apparently sought to outflank American positions on the west.

(There was no word whether the North Koreans were able to reinforce this band during the early night hours.)

Small Force Set
Mustang planes struck at the small force wading the low, gravel bottomed river. American artillery blasted the crossing area.

(General MacArthur in his communique today had said the 34th Infantry Regiment is in position to engage the North Korean First Division, called the Red's best, was replaced in that area by the Sixth Communist Division, a Korean outfit trained during combat in the Chinese war.)

U.N. Flag Accepted

General MacArthur Says Command Will Try to Uphold Ideal

Tokyo, July 14 (AP)—General MacArthur today accepted the flag of the United Nations and said his command would "do all in its power to uphold this noble ideal."

The flag—a white globe surrounded by laurel branches on a blue field—is the "symbol of one of the greatest efforts man has made to free himself," MacArthur declared. He is U.N. commander for the Korean war as well as U.S. commander-in-chief and chief of the Allied occupation of Japan.

Democrats Expecting Ives And Dewey on State Ticket

New York, July 14 (AP)—State Democratic leaders are reported to be expecting a Republican ticket headed by Ives-for-governor and Dewey-for U.S. senator.

That would rule out Joe R. Hanley, 74-year-old lieutenant governor, who won widespread G.O.P. backing for the governorship when Gov. Thomas E. Dewey announced he would not run for reelection in November.

The term of Sen. Irving M. Ives runs until January, 1953. Speculation on the makeup of the Republican and Democratic state tickets grew hotter yesterday as Democratic State Chairman Paul E. Fitzpatrick and Democratic National Committee-man Edward J. Flynn of the Bronx held a luncheon conference.

Fitzpatrick told newsmen he had no direct knowledge that Mayor William O'Dwyer is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, or that the mayor aspires to be appointed ambassador to Mexico.

Fitzpatrick and O'Dwyer breakfasted together two weeks ago at Grace Mansion, the mayor's official residence, and the mayor at that time did not mention a yen for Albany or Mexico City, the Democratic chairman said.

There have been published reports recently that the mayor had his eye either on the governorship or the ambassador post. Some Democratic leaders say they think (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

Boy in Polio Center Not Woodstocker, Says Health Office

There have been no polio cases reported from Woodstock this year, the County Health Department said today.

Information given by a nine-year-old boy on his admission to the Vassar Hospital infantile paralysis treatment center earlier this week led to the mistaken conclusion that the boy was from Woodstock. A re-check by county health authorities, however, proved that the boy had never been in the Ulster county village.

The boy, who had been at a camp at Pine Plains, Dutchess county, listed his parents' address as Woodstock, since they are staying there for the summer. Actually, the family are residents of Kings county and the boy had gone to camp before the parents came to Woodstock, health authorities learned.

The case itself is doubtful and may prove to be an abortive case, it was learned today. The boy was scheduled for release from the hospital this week unless complications develop.

Another abortive case was reported by the Ulster county health department Thursday. A boy, 3, resident of Kingston, had been under treatment for suspicion of polio, but after observation no symptoms of polio appeared, the health department said.

The President termed such a program vital to our national security.

Atomic Submarine Engine Model Is To Be Constructed

Washington, July 14 (AP)—Senator McMahon (D-Conn.) announced today that construction work will be started at Arco, Idaho, next month on a land based model for an atomic powered submarine engine.

McMahon, chairman of the Senate House Atomic Committee, predicted that a "tremendous improvement in submarine performance" is in the offing.

The Arco prototype, or original from which other engines are to be copied, is one of two experimental projects for atomic ship propulsion on which the Atomic Energy Commission has been working since early 1947. The project is being carried on jointly for the A.E.C. by the Argonne National Laboratories near Chicago, and the Westinghouse Corp. The A.E.C. earlier had set a September target date for start of construction of the Arco engine which it estimated would cost $25,000,000. Arco is the site of the A.E.C.'s reactor (atomic engine) test station.

The other, higher powered, prototype is to be built at West Milton, N. Y., near Schenectady. It is being developed by the Knolls Power Laboratory of the General Electric Co.

McMahon said in a statement that both prototypes will produce steam which will be used in conventional steam turbines to drive submarine propellers. He added: "With equal ease this steam could be used to drive electric generators for the generation of commercial power."

The statement disclosed that the members of the A.E.C. are high ranking navy officers who will go to the New London, Conn., submarine base next Tuesday to discuss the progress being made on atomic power for submarines.

Body of Boy Is Found in Shark

Galveston, Tex., July 14 (AP)—The shark that swallowed a boy has officers puzzled.

They know where the shark, a nine-foot-man-eater, came from, but they don't know where he found his victim.

The shark was discovered in the shallow waters of Galveston Bay. A human foot protruded from the decomposed shark. Inside the carcass officers found the torso of a youth, perhaps 17 or 18 years old. Justice of the Peace James McKenna said a study of the human remains indicated the youth was about five feet, five inches tall.

The skipper of a shrimp boat, Capt. Malcolm Saunier, said his crew netted the shark in the bay Sunday and tossed the fish overboard in the harbor after it died.

Officers consulted J. L. Baughman at Rockport, chief marine biologist for the Texas Game, Fish and Water Commission and an expert on sharks.

Baughman said the shark could have found his human meal a long way from Galveston since a shark can swim 250 miles a day. He estimated it would take a shark about three days to digest a human body.

Baughman also pointed out that it is possible the shark did not attack the youth, but devoured the body after the youth had drowned or died in some other manner.

A young German shepherd dog painfully dragged himself up an embankment and out on Albany avenue Friday. Both his hind legs had been broken—one of them amputated—in an accident.

Motorists passing along the street about 8 a. m. noticed Eugene Chilson, head of the local unit of the Society for the Prevention to Animals, and Special Agent Ray Winne was sent to assist the dog. A Kingston police officer stood by until Winne's arrival.

Inspection of the wound disclosed that the dog probably had been run over by a train which passed underneath Albany avenue. Apparently the dog dragged himself up the bank and onto the street. The wound was probably severe.

Winne took the dog to Dr. Alvin Evans, veterinarian, who reported the dog's one leg had been amputated at the hip, and the other hind leg would have had to be amputated above the knee. The owners were located, and with their permission, the dog was destroyed. The S.P.A. will give the family another pup.

Financial and Commercial

New York, July 14 (AP)—The stock market advanced smartly today for the first gain of the week.

Leading stocks, many in the blue-chip class, gained a few cents to around $3 a share.

Demand was most intense immediately after the opening. The initial rise was followed by a mild relapse which turned out to be temporary and then prices started to edge up again.

Yesterday the market plunged to the lowest level on average since late December. In the final hour, however, a rally got rolling which carried through today.

The market's stability, which followed an almost relentless pounding all week, was linked with the optimistic tenor of President Truman's remarks on the Korean war late yesterday.

Also encouraging to would-be buyers was what appeared to be a good chance that corporate taxes would not be boosted—at least for the time being.

A good part of the volume focussed on the steel and automobile groups. Gains elsewhere were widespread but not much business was involved.

Corporate bonds improved. U.S. governments held steady in over-the-counter dealings.

Most of the curb were National Union Radio, Niagara Hudson Power, Pancoast Oil, Raytheon Mfg., Sentinel Radio, Standard Power, American Metal Products, Canadian Marconi, Claude Neon, Electric Bond & Share, and Kaiser-Frazer.

Youth and Girl

time and they were engaged," had left the house.

Mrs. Camilla Marinaro, the girl's mother, police said, reported that Mildred and Rodman "did not come home on time and she looked into their rooms and found clothing and suit cases missing."

Mrs. Abbate said the family now wants Mildred to return home regardless of circumstances. "Whether they are married or not, couldn't get married, because of their age."

They will face a serious consequence, she said, but if they do not return and are picked up by the police, charges will be pressed.

Mrs. Abbate said that the family was reluctant to press charges because of the ages of the couple, but since considerable time has elapsed, and because of the mother's illness, she felt something must be done.

Young Rodman's father lives in Virginia, Mrs. Abbate said. Police sent messages there, to other places in the south, and a general one in this immediate region.

The family will be grateful for any information concerning the couple.

there is some basis for the reports.

Because of the fluid situation, Democratic county chairman have been asked by the high command not to go out on the limb regarding the governorship or any other place on the party ticket.

Fitzpatrick said Sen. Herbert H. Lehman is the logical choice for the Democratic nomination for reelection.

In the discussion of candidates for governor, Fitzpatrick was asked by a newsman whether former Postmaster General James A. Farley is a possibility.

The chairman answered that "a lot of people think he would be a powerful candidate."

Fitzpatrick declared he had no preference for the governorship at present. He said he never has been a candidate for the job, and expects to be state chairman next year.

State Population Is Up 1,264,660 In Past 10 Years

New York, July 14 (AP)—New York state's population is 14,743,802—an increase of 1,264,660 in the past 10 years—according to an unofficial tabulation of census figures.

The figures, released yesterday, were based on preliminary data and are subject to revision, the area office of the Bureau of Census said.

The report showed big population centers grew bigger, and small ones smaller.

The biggest gain by any county was in Nassau, on Long Island. Where a jump of 63 per cent, from 406,748 to 663,748, was shown.

Suffolk county, to the east of Nassau on Long Island, rose 38 per cent.

With Cornell University students being counted for the first time, Tompkins county rose 40 per cent.

The population of New York city rose from 7,454,995 in the 1940 census to 7,641,023 in the 1950 tally. Each of the city's five boroughs showed a gain.

Other major county gains included: Cortland—101 per cent; Erie—13 per cent; Monroe—108 per cent; Niagara—188 per cent; Onondaga—155 per cent; Putnam—167 per cent; Seneca—135 per cent; Tioga—11 per cent.

Hamilton county, which has the smallest population in the state, lost 3.3 per cent, from 4,188 in 1940 to 4,051 in 1950.

Other counties dropping included Clinton, down from 54,006 to 53,583, and Lewis, down from 22,815 to 22,447.

Castle for Puppy Becomes Reality in High Woods Yard

In High Woods, one dog's home is his castle, and it is not a castle in the sky.

Marius Frutier is putting the finishing touches on a stone castle, complete with drawbridge, turrets and a flag pole. The castle is of miniature size, just right for the lord of the manor—the dog.

What sort of a dog is it that lives in such splendor? In the words of its owner, the dog is "just a mutt." He is called, "Puppy." He has already moved into the castle, and according to the owner he likes it very much.

The castle is constructed of fill stone, split to display the best grain, which is in the center of the stone. The stone was cemented around a wooden framework and the walls are insulated. The walls are about six inches thick, and there is a heavy wooden floor.

Chief by Occupation

Marius Frutier by occupation is chef at the Irvington Inn in Woodstock. He has lived in High Woods about nine years, and before that was chef at various places including Sherry's in New York, the Nelson House in Poughkeepsie and the Stuyvesant Hotel in Kingston. His wife, Marie, is hostess at Deane's in Woodstock.

Marius' hobby is his garden. He has built, in addition to the doghouse, a birdhouse of similar stone, into which he has piped running water which shoots a stream five feet into the air, a large stone fireplace, and a rock garden containing a miniature village.

Has Own Garden

In the miniature village are several homes, a barn and a church, which he has named "Cupid's Nest" has its own garden, chairs on the porch, and two large urns at its entrance. Completely up to the minute, it even has a television aerial.

Even Norman Castle for His Pup

The church has a bell in its steeple. Closer observation discloses the bell is an old shower head. Frutier points out that the entire village is constructed of 'junk' and didn't cost a penny. Actual shingles on the roofs were carved from a single, full sized asphalt shingle, the same as used on the Frutier garage.

Another rock garden contains some unusual specimens of wind-eroded rocks, picked up in the Catskill area. Frutier is always on the look-out for odd shaped rocks and has a collection of various types which probably would be of interest to a geologist.

The village is a comparatively new development. Frutier has been working on it all winter, and expects to make further improvements and additions.

Marius Frutier really goes in for hobbies in a big way. In the top photo, the High Woods resident works on his miniature village which includes homes, a barn, a church and even a windmill. The builder, in the lower photo, puts the finishing touches on a stone castle, complete with drawbridges, which is the stately home of his dog, "Puppy." (Freeman Photos)

Will Pay Indians $31,700,000 on 1891 Land Dispute

Washington, July 14 (AP)—The government has agreed to pay the Ute Indian tribes of Colorado and Utah $31,700,000 in settlement of a land dispute dating back to 1891.

The award by the U.S. Court of Claims consists of four judgments, one of the four, for $24,296,127, is said to be the largest ever made against the government by the court.

The judgments are in payment for more than 6,000,000 acres of land taken from the Utes by the government.

The land involved consists largely of mountainous areas in western Colorado, ranging in elevation from 5,000 to 13,000 feet. It has a high mineral value. Besides two producing oil fields, it includes extensive deposits of vanadium, major coal reserves, what is said to be the largest deposit of shale oil in the United States and more than 4,000,000 acres of grazing rights.

Actually the land has been the subject of a tug-of-war between the Indians and the government since 1888. That year the government by treaty set aside 15,000,000 acres in western Colorado for the Utes.

The government later bought back 4,000,000 acres and eventually took over the rest. This action resulted in lengthy and involved litigation going back to a seizure of forest lands starting in 1891.

Attorneys for the Utes said approximately 80 per cent of the award will go to Utes living in Utah, the remainder to Utes in Colorado. The award was said to represent more than $10,000 for each member of the confederated tribes.

Clerks of the court said the money awarded the Utes will not be available to them until appropriated by Congress.

Saved by a Foot
Chicago (AP)—A woman sometimes can have the last word in an argument even if she says nothing at all. A robber grabbed Mrs. Doris Swanson's purse on Michigan avenue. She wouldn't let go. The tug-of-war went on until she kicked the snatcher in the stomach. He fled up an alley.

Says Her Concept On Polio Proved

New York, July 14 (AP)—Sister Elizabeth Kenny says she has photographic proof that the vital organs, skin and muscles are hosts to the polio germ.

The Australian nurse returned yesterday on the liner Ile De France with 100 micro-photographs which she says prove her concept of infantile paralysis.

Most medical men, she said, believe polio settles only in the central nervous system.

She explained that the photographs were the result of 30 years of research by Dr. Leon La Ruelle, professor at the Brussels Neurological Institute and president of the National League of Polio-myelitis of Belgium.

Inks Out a Hobby
Bloomington, Ill. (AP)—Ten years ago a friend gave Mrs. Loren

Lewis an inkwell—and a hobby. Mrs. Lewis began to collect them. Now she has three shelves filled with inkwells made of brass, copper, iron, wood, porcelain, china, silver, ebony and glass.

CIVILIAN DEFENSE PROGRAMS

Governors all over the nation could well copy the initiative of Governor Thomas E.

Dewey of New York in the civilian defense field. He's been having emergency talks with his cabinet on defense plans for the whole state.

As Dewey points out and national authorities concede, the states up to now have received virtually no guidance from the federal government in preparing an adequate civilian defense. They have no choice but to take matters into their own hands and plunge ahead.

W. Stuart Symington, chairman of the National Security Resources Board, is the key federal executive in this field. But until he was named to the job a few months ago the post had been vacant for months.

And no one in Washington apparently took civilian defense seriously until last

September when it was learned Russia had the A-Bomb.

The truth is that though some cities have test programs under way, no community is ready now to face an A-Bomb attack. The lack of efficient civilian defense could be, in Symington's view, the difference between a serious and a fatal disaster.

"It is estimated that with only twelve minutes' warning as against no warning, and under efficiently planned civilian defense, the casualties in a city hit by an atomic bomb could be reduced fifty percent," he said recently.

Unfortunately for such plans, no one has even decided yet whether the cost of civilian defense staffs and equipment should be borne by the federal government or the states and cities.

One need not be an alarmist about the prospects of the Korean war spreading into general war to realize the time is long past for feeble inaction in this field. Harsh reality, uncolored by hysteria, requires us to be prepared for the worst in a world that contains the Soviet Union.

No A-Bomb attack may ever come; but if it does, it will then be too late to talk about combating its results with effective defense.

In New York a State Civil Defense Commission has been created and provided with $100,000 to get going. State officials have been working on preliminaries for nearly a year, and Dewey's emergency cabinet sessions were the signal for the commission to move ahead at top speed.

Some states may already be taking similar strides. Certainly none which would be likely targets in an atomic war can afford to delay further the making of specific civilian defense plans. And perhaps if they begin showing the way, the federal government will be spurred at long last to establish an effective over-all program.

UNROMANTIC BANDIT

Like many another bandit before him,

Salvatore (Turiddu) Giuliano of Sicily was glamorized in the days when it became known that a special detail of Italian police was hunting him down. His exploits were recounted breathlessly, and some even pinned

a "Robin Hood" label on him, although nothing could have been more inappropriate. When finally he was slain, a calmer appraisal of his life revealed him as a typical outlaw—

a brute, a coward, an indiscriminate thief, a killer of women and children. His life of crime, to which one reporter declared that he "dedicated himself," was begun as a fugitive from military service. When finally trapped he apparently was preparing to flee the native land of which he pretended to be a patriot. He spent his last night on earth in a brothel.

There is no romance in crime, only enmity for all that is worth while.

NEGLECTING THE SLOW

The schools, like some other institutions, run the risk of wanting primarily to make a good show. This may cause them to neglect the slow learner, who typifies fifteen to twenty per cent of school attendants. So

Prof. A. R. Mangus, teacher of sociology at Ohio State University, told the annual con-

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

TERROR BY LAW

George N. Craig, national commander of the American Legion, in an article entitled "Terror by Law," recounts how in a suburb of New York a real American rose to speak. Let George Craig tell it:

"He got up at a town meeting and declared, 'This town is under the thumb of a gang of Pinks and Reds and it's time that the real Americans here did something about it.'"

"Minutes later, this old-timer was approached by two men of the Communist-led faction whom he knew to be lawyers. One of them shoved his fist in his face.

"'You've just committed a vicious slander,' he said, 'and unless you retract it publicly, we're going to sue.'"

"Go ahead and sue," he replied. "What I said is true and you know it."

"Maybe so," the lawyer said, 'but you'll still have to hire lawyers to defend you and before we're through with you, it'll cost you every cent you have.'"

There is lots of that going on, particularly in the matter of labor suits, which, while they might be lost by the loser, prove expensive, embarrassing, and time-wasting for the loser. The young McCulloughs had to give a year of their lives to defending themselves from the charge of libel that ordinarily would be regarded as a passing judgment upon a current and local problem.

There is a device that helps along the terrorization of patriotic citizens. It is the examination before trial. The theory of this process is that to save time and money the lawyers and contestants get together and remove from the need for trial those issues upon which there can be common agreement.

So the formalities of the trial are eliminated. The judge and jury are not present. The hearing is held in one of the lawyer's offices. The rules of evidence are not adhered to. A careful record of the proceedings is kept and what is agreed upon goes into the trial by stipulation.

If honestly and conscientiously conducted, such a hearing before trial is a very valuable time and money saver. But if a fussy lawyer gets someone in his clutches, he asks all sorts of questions, which may or may not be related to the subject. For instance, he might in pursuit of malice, try to adduce psychological reactions in childhood to explain why a certain political position was taken. Also, he could ask questions which would never be tolerated in a court of law or among gentlemen even in a bar-room.

It has been my experience as a newspaperman that when a lawyer objects to reporters being present at such a hearing, something unsavory is in the offing. Often when a man sues and gets into one of these preliminary hearings, he, who though himself the plaintiff, discovers that he has been made the defendant even to the extent of explaining why, as a child, he played with his sister's dolls.

The Communists are not the only ones who employ this form of terror. It is quite general and often results in a settlement where there should be none, which, of course, is the object.

For instance, if two nominal Catholics are fighting each other in the courts and the lawsuit is really about a woman, the lawyer gets busy and works up a stew to show that his opponent's client knows half a dozen alleged or asserted anti-Semites, what does it prove?

It proves that he knows them. It does not prove that he agrees with them, likes them, supports them, or that he hates Jews. Nevertheless, the lawyer can make quite a situation out of that, embarrassing his opponent's client, particularly if he has many Jewish friends. In this sort of thing so much that it has become accepted practice. The extraneous questions and answers do not help the committee to draw up legislation, which is why they exist. It is done to help one group smear another. It is an instrument of political and social purge.

Yet, when Senator Hickenlooper made his charges against the Atomic Energy Commission and could not prove them without giving away national secrets, he was ridiculed. When Clark Mink and Green-glase were arrested, Hickenlooper was proved to be correct. Yet, it was Hickenlooper, not the spies, who were smeared. (Copyright, 1950, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

VALUE OF PROTEIN FOODS

Until a few years ago proteins—meat, eggs, fish—were blamed for rheumatism, gout and other joint disturbances, so that many well individuals cut down or avoided entirely all or some of the protein foods. Meat was to be especially avoided.

Then came the general idea that most of us ate too much meat and that we could get along with a little meat but could eat large amounts of all the other foods—starches, fats, and minerals. A little later it was thought that we were eating too much of all kinds of food, and the daily number of food calories was reduced.

However, cutting down on the total number of calories eaten daily includes eating down on proteins (body builders) and thus weakens the body, the body needed proteins to maintain strength.

In "The Wisconsin Medical Journal," Dr. J. B. Youmans states that lack of or a deficient supply of calories at first involves only loss of body fat. When body fat is gone, however, loss of the body's very small protein begins so that, in the end, calorie deficiency becomes protein deficiency. This is a serious loss to the body and to the general health of the individual because the strength of the entire body depends upon the nitrogen balance of the body being maintained.

Among the many ill effects of lack of protein in the tissues is muscular weakness. There is a decrease in the amount of blood pumped into and out of the heart, low blood pressure, slow heart beat at rest, and greatly increased heart rate on slight exertion. Muscular weakness may cause bloating or distention of stomach and intestines.

Our authority also points out that loss of nitrogen and protein is accompanied by loss of calcium (lime) and other mineral salts such as iron, and phosphorus. The swelling due to fluid in the tissues greatly increases where there is lack of protein, especially lack of meat. Also lack of protein causes anemia (thin blood) and the blood loses much of its ability to fight off harmful organisms. And, finally, because of this lack of proteins, changes in personality and emotional make-up occur.

Try to eat some proteins—meat, eggs, fish, milk, cereals—once or twice daily.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—There was much more than meets the eye behind the rather cool letters exchanged between President Truman and Civil Aeronautics Chairman Joe O'Connell last week.

In the background were not only two curt and unfriendly notes, but the frantic lobbying of three giant airlines for the most lucrative air routes in the world.

There was also some clever wire-pulling by members of the palace guard in favor of two of the airlines, Pan American Airways and American Overseas Airlines, while the other side was a $50,000 fee paid to an ex-palace guard, Clark Clifford, by the Hughes Aircraft Company.

O'Connell's resignation goes back to the fact that, for months, the C.A.B. has been debating the extremely complicated question of whether Pan American should be allowed to merge with the American Overseas. Since the U. S. government largely subsidizes the big airlines, C.A.B. has final authority on such mergers and can be reversed only by the President himself.

During these months of study, it was disclosed that wherever Pan American had received a monopoly route, the efficiency of its service dropped.

Pan American, incidentally, is the company now involved in the recent wire-tapping report being investigated by the Justice Department, in which Washington police tapped the wires of Howard Hughes, head of T.W.A., at the time he was being investigated by Senator Brewster. The wire-tapping was done on the orders of Senator Brewster, noted as the Senate spokesman for Pan Am.

This wire-tapping scandal did not form a part of C.A.B.'s deliberations, though it is interesting to note that the issue involved was the same—namely, whether there should be only one monopoly airline operated by the United States overseas.

O'Connell Strongly Against Monopoly

Finally, the C.A.B. voted 3 to 2 against the merger. The majority—Chairman O'Connell, Harold Jones and Russell Adams—wrote a strong opinion, finding that the American system of free competition must be preserved and the monopoly would hurt the best interests of the nation. Two members—John Lee and Oswald Ryan, long known as Pan Am's best friend on the C.A.B.—dissented. This finding was sent to the White House.

On June 30, the White House wrote back over President Truman's signature, though the letter actually was drafted for him by Budget Director Frederick Lawton that Truman approved the C.A.B. findings and was against the Pan American merger. The letter added that it was left the C.A.B. to decide whether the door open for further consideration of overseas routes.

When Chairman O'Connell received this note, he expressed some mystification at this addition. Nevertheless, the board started to announce its finding to the public. By this time, however, it was late in the afternoon, and Oswald Ryan, friend of Pan American, argued that it was too late in the day, and suggested that the public announcement could go over until later.

Next morning, it became known that Ryan had paid a secret visit to the President and had personally urged Pan American's case. At 9:45 a. m. the C.A.B. received a phone call from the White House to hold up the U. S. scheduled announcement turning down the Pan Am merger. And immediately thereafter, Ryan appeared before his C.A.B. colleagues to tell them that President Truman had asked him to carry the oral message that he wanted the entire question of the merger reversed, and that Pan American should be permitted to consolidate with American Overseas.

'Shabby Treatment'

This caused Chairman O'Connell to hit the ceiling. "Why didn't I know about this?" he asked other C.A.B. members. "I consider this the shabbiest treatment I have had since I became chairman of the board."

O'Connell went even further and wrote a hot personal letter to the President in which in effect he said:

"I respect your authority as President to review decisions of the Civil Aeronautics Board in matters affecting overseas air travel.

"Of quite another stripe, however, was the recent meeting of you and your advisers with the vice chairman of the board, Oswald Ryan, without at least showing me the courtesy of inviting me to participate. Consequently, I can only ask that my resignation, which I recently submitted to you effective July 1, be made effective immediately."

O'Connell had seen the President on June 13, and in a very friendly conversation had asked permission to resign because of financial reasons. Truman at that time, however, had refused to accept the resignation and begged him to remain.

After receiving O'Connell's curt note, however, the President wrote back a one-paragraph letter stating that given instructions that O'Connell be invited to the meeting with Ryan, but apparently there had been a slip-up by his staff.

Truman then abruptly announced O'Connell's resignation.

Following this, Truman wrote another letter to the C.A.B., confirming the oral message sent by Oswald Ryan, stating that he had reversed himself and now favored the Pan American Airways merger.

Furthermore, believe it or not, he awarded Pan Am more than it even asked. He actually gave Pan Am a new route to Paris, thereby cutting in on T.W.A., and also gave Pan Am a route to Rome, thereby infringing on T.W.A.

As a sep. T.W.A. got the right to stop at London and the highly dubious privilege of going to Frankfurt, Germany.

Empty Stomach Has Bearing on Life

Ithaca, N. Y., July 14 (AP)—An empty stomach leaves man little time to become civilized. He is too preoccupied with food.

That's the conclusion of Dr. Allan R. Holmberg, a professor of sociology and anthropology at Cornell University.

He lived more than a year in the steaming jungles of Bolivia with a tribe of underfed primitives. Their diet was also his.

"If you lived in such a society, you would be completely different," Holmberg reported.

"You would dream about food in your sleep. You would become superstitious and try to increase your food supply with magic. Sex wouldn't be nearly so important. Persons living in such societies are so engrossed in their food needs and their hunting that other aspects of their culture are little developed," he added.

Holmberg's experiences have just been published by the Smithsonian Institute.

At left is Lieut.-Gen. Walter Krueger, former commanding officer of the American 8th Army in the South Pacific, a key man in MacArthur's return to the Philippines. At right is Gen. Health for All

A Community Problem

The modern American community has sound health laws to protect its citizens against communicable diseases. Among protective measures taken by most American communities are provisions for a sanitary water supply, safe waste disposal, and clean streets. Local ordinances provide also for the sale of pasteurized milk and pure foods only.

In addition to these general health protection measures, many modern American communities carry on attacks against specific diseases. An example of this is the tuberculosis program, the various phases of which fall into the general categories of case finding, treatment, rehabilitation, and health education.

Since tuberculosis has no obvious symptoms in an early stage, the search for undiscovered cases of the disease must be made among apparently healthy people. In many modern communities case-finding programs are conducted. These include tuberculin testing of children (simple skin sensitivity tests) and chest X-rays which can reveal evidence of the disease in an early stage.

Tuberculin testing and chest X-rays serve to "screen out" suspicious signs of the disease. Further tests are necessary before a diagnosis of tuberculosis is made. When a case of tuberculosis is found, prompt measures must be taken to get the sick person under treatment.

Adequate facilities for the care and treatment of the community's tuberculosis patients are of prime importance. There should be sufficient beds for the care of all patients who need hospitalization, whether the tuberculosis hospital program is planned on a state, city or county basis or on a combination of the three.

Tuberculosis often brings with it severe social and economic problems. Many of its victims face financial difficulties during this long-term illness, especially where the patient is the breadwinner of the family. Laws governing public welfare for the community should include provision for adequate financial assistance to the tuberculosis patient and his dependents. Because of the long time required for tuberculosis treatment some states now recognize that this treatment should be provided free.

Rehabilitation services, available in every state to patients who need them, are now recognized as part of the tuberculosis patient's treatment. Such services help the patient, once he leaves the hospital, return to community life as a useful, self-supporting citizen. Every phase of the tuberculosis

Vandenberg said Thursday's big B-29 raid on Wonsan, North Korea—"only nine days after the 50 crews were alerted in the United States"—should give food for thought to those in the world who would violate by military aggression the peace and independence of others.

Collins and Vandenberg flew to Korea between conferences with General MacArthur and his staff.

TOMORROW'S NEWS TODAY—In case you've wondered why you're getting Friday battle stories from Korea in your Thursday newspaper, the answer is right here. Korea is located just four hours west of the International Date Line in the Pacific—an imaginary line where when it's Friday on the west side it's Thursday on the east. Korean time is 14 hours ahead of New York's, so Korea's Friday is more than half gone before New York's even begins. The Newschart above gives comparative times for Korea and the four U. India, Sweden Are Anxious to Stop Spread of War

Washington, July 14 (AP)—Both the United States and Russia received notes yesterday from Prime Minister Nehru of India.

There was no announcement of the contents but there was speculation here that they might include a proposal for attaining peace in Korea.

The New York Times in a dispatch from Washington quoted diplomatic circles as saying that India was not offering to mediate in the Korean war but was merely urging the United States and Soviet Russia to keep the Korean war from spreading.

Nehru recently expressed his willingness to serve as a mediator in the conflict between North and South Koreans, the latter backed by the U. S.

Meanwhile, in Stockholm, Sweden, Premier Einar Gerhardson of Norway last night called on the Soviet Union to help stop the Korean fighting and induce the North Korean forces to withdraw behind the 38th parallel.

Gerhardson, addressing an International Socialist Youth conference, ridiculed the Communist-sponsored "Stockholm appeal" to ban the atom bomb. He urged the 20,000 attending the meeting to issue another sort of "Stockholm appeal" for peace, and added: "It should be sent to every single nation but first of all to the Soviet Union."

The Nehru note to Moscow came soon after some foreign diplomats there had expressed the opinion that Russia seeks a peaceful settlement of the Korean war. There was no information available here as to whether the note handed the State Department by Mee, Vijaya Laxshmi Pandit, the Indian ambassador to the U. S., duplicated the one sent to Premier Stalin.

Against Tax Exemption For Apartment Project

New York, July 14 (AP)—In a letter yesterday to the Board of Estimate, Jerry Finkelstein, chairman of the City Planning Commission, stated that the commission recommended denial of a request for tax exemption on a proposed "Little Neck, Queens, housing project designed to provide 1500 apartments."

The letter also said that "not only does the purchaser of the land and the proposed lessee appear to be one and the same, but investigation indicates that the builder is of the same interests, thus eliminating normal competition which might result in reduced costs."

The first drum cylinder press was installed in the offices of the London News in 1813.

6,000 Spotters Are Needed in State Air Raid System

New York, July 14 (AP)—Five to six thousand more spotters are needed for New York state's air raid warning system.

But the network is reported ready to go into operation on a skeleton basis almost immediately in event of an emergency.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, chairman of the State Civil Defense Commission, said yesterday he is "thoroughly satisfied" with the condition of the warning system. Clay announced that 14,000 spotters had been recruited in the state and that 618 observation posts had been set up. The system was organized under the direction of Brig. Gen. Clement H. Wright of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's staff.

Wright stressed the need for 5,000 to 6,000 more volunteer spotters, and said the training of the 14,000 already recruited is not complete. He agreed, however, that skeleton operation could start as soon as word was received from the air force.

Clay and Wright conferred yesterday at Clay's defense office here.

Wright said a rehearsal of the warning network is expected soon.

The present network is an expansion of the one that was operating at the end of World War 2, he stated.

In addition to the 618 observation posts, there are filter centers at Albany, Syracuse, Buffalo and White Plains to receive reports from the posts. The filter centers would trace the course of flights, and report their information to air force command posts, whose locations are secret. In the event of a suspicious flight, the command posts would report to a key point air warning center.

Volunteers for the warning service outside New York city and Westchester county can register in mayors' offices or with local civilian defense leaders.

Mayor William O'Dwyer, Gen. Clay and former Police Commissioner Arthur W. Wallander, city director of civilian defense, scheduled a conference today to discuss plans for the city were pushed.

Wallander announced that a transportation executive committee will be established to prepare plans for the use of facilities here in the event of any disaster.

Heads of various city departments were cooperating with Wallander in girding the city for an emergency.

Real Tar Baby
Vancouver, B. C., July 14 (AP)—A tar barrel that tilted enveloped four-year-old Lea Sherwin in liquid tar, pinning her to the ground she was sitting on. It took eight persons to tug her free. Then the little girl, pink where she wasn't black, was taken to a hospital for a bath. A quart of ether did the trick. Police dubbed it "operations blackbottom."

To Speed Arms Delivery
Copenhagen, Denmark, July 14 (AP)—The military production and supply board of the Atlantic Pact countries promised yesterday to speed up delivery of arms to Europe. It also said the time had come to speed up arms through production in West Europe. The board indicated it took the speed-up action because of the Korean conflict.

THE RUMINATOR

A Column of Contrary Opinions
By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

One of the difficult things we shall have to guard against in coming weeks is wishful thinking. When crises occur, and when the outlook is weighted with grim uncertainties, as at present, the tendency is to assume that everything will turn out all right—that our present mode of living will not be upset.

One of the wishful thoughts that has already appeared in our news is that the Korean affair will be "a short war." The truth of the matter is that we haven't even a vague notion how long it will be. When the President first announced that the United States would go into Korea it was for "police protection." Air and fleet coverage would be sufficient, it was stated. That policy lasted but a few days. Now that ground troops have been sent in, we are learning that it is quite a war after all—and, sadly, we have not near enough war equipment—tanks, heavy guns, and planes—to back up the small army we have dispatched to Korea.

It may, of course, be planned propaganda that is inspiring the news-stories of the moment—that it is to be "a short war." Because of the fear that people will recklessly hoard goods and products, this propaganda may have been "ordered" from Washington.

However, it has been the Ruminator's observation that propaganda can often fire and cause far more harm than if it had not been tried out. Let us suppose that the idea of a short war proves erroneous—as the original thought of police protection is already exploded. If the job to be done in Korea proves to be a long-drawn-out affair (and odds would seem to favor that eventually with the present viewpoint) then there will be a shortage of goods as we are forced to convert steel and other raw materials to war uses. People who hold off from buying now, because of the propaganda, will be all the more incensed when they learn they have been misled. The psychology thereafter is likely to be harmful and black markets will be patronized.

In the long run it is undoubtedly wise to take the public into your confidence. It would be wiser, in this one man's opinion, to admit that no one knows what Korea will turn out to be but that it is essential to prepare for the worst. It would even be smart, it seems to me, to state that Russia is an exceedingly dangerous and tricky foe and therefore the nation must be ready to go all out for defense without notice.

Because of the extreme danger of inflation, when new war demands are loaded upon our already bloated economy, no time should be lost in clamping down price and wage controls. Controls might not be necesary IF WE KNEW WHAT WAS GOING TO HAPPEN. But no one does know. It is safe to assert that our intelligence reports on Russia's intentions are vague and unreliable. This is not a criticism of our intelligence service, but to emphasize that Russia, under an iron-clad dictatorship, may make any one of a dozen moves according to what the little group in the Kremlin may think is a clever play. They care little for lives, morals, or ethics. If only we knew what they were up to, we could do the job assigned to them, then call in Red China, or some other force.

How dangerous it is to spread around ideas such as appeared in a Sunday paper that key men closest to the international military situation advised their industrial associates that within two or three weeks at the latest inflexible policies will have been discredited. Quick success was predicted for combined forces in South Korea. Either the "key men" were talking through their hats—because there is not sufficient information available to justify either statement; that inflation will be discredited, or that quick success can be predicted for the South Korean forces.

I have enlarged upon this subject of wishful thinking and wishful reports because of the extraordinary results that frequently arise from public psychology when early beliefs and opinions suddenly shift—and sudden shifts occur when the public has been misled, or misinformed.

It is far safer under present uncertainties and imponderables to merely hope for these optimistic outcomes but to expect and prepare for serious consequences. This goes for the stock market as well as for business. The stock market is still subject to shocks and selling as bad news appears, in this writer's guess.

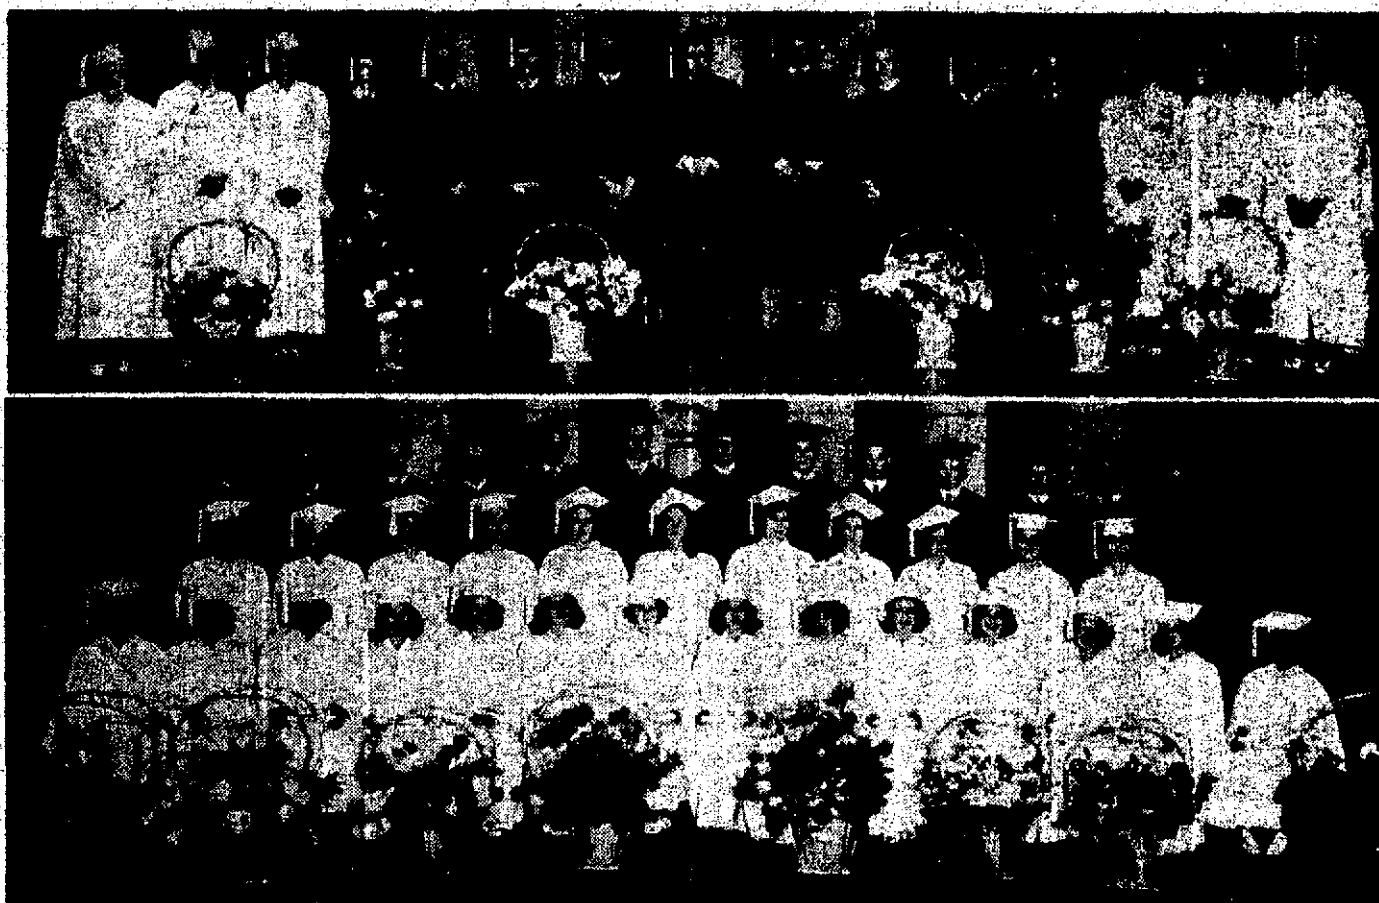

As Pegler Sees It

countless Americans, whom he seemed to regard as his subjects, to his own selfish judgment. By extension, Roosevelt, and a few reptilian raspberries of that unappealable political pestilence, was committing the fate of mankind to the honor and conscience of a few Russians who were notoriously without either honor or conscience.

Obviously the present process in Korea is no way to peace and freedom from the thrall of the Hundred men. The obvious thing to do is to kill the Hundred—or perhaps a thousand—surely a petty price for deliverance. American etiquette abhors assassination, but who would uphold an artificial etiquette at the cost of total conquest of all the peoples of the world, and the obliteration of all religion and civilization?

We have had in our own union movement a mighty miniature of this domination of vast numbers of powerless people by a few bad usurpers. When I maintain that the union movement is absolutely bad as we know it, I hear brutal men cry in the faces in their power that I am a fascist. I hear even priests cry out that the union movement should not be damned for the atrocities of a few bad leaders. But there you put your finger on the identity of this vicious miniature of ours with the enormous menace of the Hundred in Moscow. The few bad unioners

Telegram Asks Unions to Return Despite Walkout

New York, July 14 (AP)—The New York World-Telegram and Sun has asked eight craft unions to "permit and direct" their members to return to work Monday despite a strike by 400 members of the C.I.O. American Newspaper Guild.

The afternoon newspaper has not published since the Guild struck June 13. It could not publish because A.F.L. printers, stenographers, pressmen and other craft union members—mostly A.F.L.—refused to cross Guild picket lines.

Union officials were not available for comment on the newspaper's back-to-work appeal, issued yesterday.

A similar request to the craft unions was made by the newspaper early in the strike. The management said the mechanical employees were violating agreements by not working.

The 400 editorial and business department employees who are members of the Guild struck in support of demands for higher pay and other benefits. Round-the-clock picketing has been maintained. Some employed in the editorial and business department have reported for work.

The Federal Mediation and Conciliation service has sponsored several Guild-management talks, but no progress toward settlement has been reported. The next session is scheduled for Monday.

To Prosecute Seamen
Canberra, Australia, July 14 (AP)—The Australian cabinet voted today to prosecute officers of the Australian Seamen's Union for their ban against shipment of war supplies to Korea. The government was reported still studying evidence for the prosecution under the sedition section of the Commonwealth Crimes Act.

New Pre-School Nursery to Open On Fair Street

Registration day for the new Fair Street Nursery School is August 1 and several days thereafter. It has been announced by Mrs. George F. Dingee, president of the board of directors.

The nursery, she said, is to be a non-sectarian pre-school, conducted in the former Crosby property, 209 Fair street, for boys and girls of three and four years of age.

It will be in session from 9 a. m. until 12 noon daily, following the annual calendar year of the public schools of Kingston. The daily program will include individual and group activities with blocks, paints, toys, clay, group discussions, story-telling, games, rhythms and outdoor play.

A mid-morning lunch will be included in the tuition fee.

Registration will be received from 10 a. m. to 12 noon on the opening days, and parents desiring the nursery bulletin for 1950-51 may have the mail to them if they write to the Fair street address.

Enrollment will be open until the limit is reached.

Spacious Accommodations

The school will occupy rooms on the ground floor of the Crosby House, where partitions have been removed to afford larger areas for nursery-age work and play.

There will be a kindergarten, playroom, a room equipped for quiet activities such as story and music appreciation, adjoining lockers, lavatory, kitchen, and toy storage rooms.

Each piece of new equipment was chosen for its educational value for the age group.

In addition to the sunny rooms there is a fenced-in play yard to the rear.

Teacher at the nursery will be Mrs. Benjamin C. Emerick, who holds a teacher's college certificate in the State of New Jersey where she taught for some years before coming to Kingston.

Miss Emerick's leadership in the kindergarten of the Fair Street Church School has received city-wide attention, and, according to President Dingee, she is well qualified for her new position.

Aims of School

Relative to the project, Mrs. Dingee said:

"We, at Fair Street Nursery School, believe in the philosophy of development that it is possible and desirable to determine the present growth of a child and through intelligent guidance help him to reach a more advanced stage."

"Our children will learn to express themselves, they will be encouraged to think and act independently within the bounds of well-directed discipline. We feel that character development throughout a child's early years is of major import."

"Furthermore, in the past three decades, research in child development has revealed that the speed and scope of a child's growth and learning in the early years outstrip that of any later period of similar length in his whole life; that in importance to his future efficiency as a person, their overbalance later learning."

Serving with Mrs. Dingee on the board of directors are Addison Schultz, vice president; Kenneth L. Hicock, (ex) secretary; Earl Ryalnce, treasurer; Mrs. Robert H. Broad, S. Ellingham Burnett, the Rev. J. Dean Dykstra, Stephen Hyatt, John Henry Martin, John R. Roberts, Dr. John R. Roberts is the nursery physician.

Good Taste Today

(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

HAVING A CONVENIENT MEMORY

A reader asks "Is it permissible in polite society to make the remark, 'It's none of your business?' I'm sick and tired of having people ask me how much I paid for things and I think it's about time that some frankness be permitted."

Such a phrase as you suggest would be unthinkable, in fact, absolutely shocking! On the other hand, answering that you are unable to remember, is often a truth as well as an escape.

Outsider Has No Place at Bridal Table

Dear Miss Post: Would it be rude to decline to sit at the bridal table? I'd really much rather sit with very special friends at the other table. The bride is being very courteous in including me at her table because my husband is an usher and will, therefore, be at their table at which I would be a complete outsider, since they, as yet, are not my friends at all.

Answer: In the first place it will be entirely correct to seat you elsewhere since only those who actually serve in the bridal party usually are seated at the bridal table in any case I think it would be best for everyone concerned that your husband explain to the groom that you have promised to sit with so and so.

The Saucer and the Cup
Dear Miss Post: When giving a tea, is the saucer of the cup used or may the teacup be stood directly on the plate so there is more room to put down little sandwiches and cakes? With best regards and love I have found it quite a struggle!

Answer: Although a cup standing on a large plate certainly would provide very comfortable space, it would be the kind of comfort provided by a collarless shirt on a man. Moreover, unless the plate has a recess to hold the cup it would be difficult to keep the cup from sliding.

Why not give yourself an etiquette test? Miss Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. She has prepared a leaflet E-18, giving a list of most frequently asked questions along with the answers which should be helpful to everyone. To obtain a copy, send 5 cents in coin and a stamped self-addressed envelope to her, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Webster Grooms 'Three Sisters' for Opening Tuesday; Calls It 'World's Greatest Play'

The most ambitious and lovingly-prepared presentation of the Woodstock Playhouse's summer season will open Tuesday, when the Margaret Webster company stages "The Three Sisters," searching and beautiful drama of suppressed longings by the Russian master playwright, Anton Chekhov.

It was of this play that Miss Webster proclaimed at the beginning of the season: "I would rather die than do it badly!" She also maintains that it is, in her opinion, the world's greatest play—along with Shaw's "Saint Joan."

She further declared at that time that she was going to "give myself a bonus" and take a part in it.

The Playhouse announced today that Miss Webster would play "Masha," Louisa Horton "Irina" and David Lewis "Colonel Vershinin." The production will be staged by Eva Le Gallienne and Miss Webster with settings by Richard Harrison.

Describing "The Three Sisters," the Playhouse announcement said "Out of the attachments, antagonisms, sly machinations and deep, if fleeting, loves that spring from these happily painful associations, Chekhov has derived the charm, the power, and the full symphony of emotions that constitute this dramatic masterpiece."

Louisa Horton, who will be seen as "Irina," appeared last season with the company and on tour as their leading actress. She received nationwide acclaim for her stellar performances as "Katherina" in "The Taming of the Shrew" and "Portia" in "Julius Caesar."

Miss Horton has appeared in the movie version of "All My Sons" and as "Sally Middleton" in the touring company of "Voice of the Turtle." David Lewis, who will portray "Colonel Vershinin" has appeared with Eva Le Gallienne in "L'Aiglon" and "Camille." He has also stage-managed for The Theatre Guild and appeared in the Broadway production of "George Washington Slept Here." During the past few seasons he appeared with Tallulah Bankhead in "The Eagle Has Two Heads" and stage-managed her recent revival of "Private Lives."

Evening performances for "The Three Sisters" will begin at 8:45 with a matinee at 2:45 on Saturday only. Reservations may be made by calling Woodstock 2015.

Others in the cast will be Canada Humphrey, George Roy Hill, Parthy Hinkley, Anthony Lewis, Larry Gates, John Straub, Anne Ives, Frederick Rolf, Jo Rabb, Dick Allen, Kendal Clark, Preston Hanson and Larry Hagman.

"The Corn Is Green," this week's current bill at The Woodstock Playhouse will continue through Saturday, July 15. Eva Le Gallienne, America's most distinguished actress, appears in Evelyn Williams prize play as "Miss Moffat" with Donald Buka, star of stage and screen, as "Morgran Evans."

The bride wore an aqua suit with white accessories and a corsage of white roses. Miss Elaine Penney was maid of honor and wore a grey suit with white accessories and a red rose corsage. James Roebuck, brother of the groom, was best man.

A reception was held at 98 Wait street for guests from Walden, Walkill, Ellenville, and Connecticut. The couple enjoyed a motor trip to Niagara Falls and Canada, and are now residing in Walden. Measles Spread in June; Tips on Summer Comfort Measles continue in epidemic proportion in Ulster county and Kingston, according to the Ulster County Health Department report. In June there were 102 cases of measles in the city of Kingston, 71 in the county for a total of 172.

Other forms of child diseases, however, are rare. During June there were only three cases of whooping cough reported, all in the county. Four cases of scarlet fever were reported in Kingston for the month and there were four cases of chickenpox in the city and two in the county.

Included in the June bulletin of the Health Department are "hints for summer" suggestions on how to avoid discomfort during the summer hot weather.

Here are a few good tips to help make you more comfortable this summer. Keep out of the sun's direct rays in the middle of the day when the sun is high. If you must be out, keep your head covered with a wide-brimmed hat. Keep the windows in your home closed during the day and pull down the shades to keep out the sun. Open the windows at night to let in the cool air. Avoid strenuous exercise. Slow down and keep from getting over-tired. Dress lightly. Fresh, clean clothing will give a feeling of coolness. Don't eat a lot of food rich in fats, starches or sugar. Eat more fresh green vegetables, salads, fruit and milk. Use more salt on your food. Drink plenty of cool water. Fluids are lost when the body perspires and should be replaced. Remember not to drink cold liquids too fast. Warm them a bit in the mouth before swallowing. Get enough sleep. Just because the days are longer is no excuse to stay awake longer. A well-rested body can stand the heat better. Wash the body more often to get rid of the wastes brought out by perspiration.

Tips on Poison Ivy
The following suggestions on how to avoid poison ivy during the summer and what to do in case you come in contact with poison ivy are also contained in the Health Department bulletin. Summer weather lures many people to the country and into possible contact with poison ivy, which is widely distributed throughout the United States. Ivy poisoning can be serious and sometimes fatal, so everyone should learn to recognize it. Poison ivy is easily recognized by its leaves, which grow three on a stem, the leaves being deep green in summer and reddish in the fall. Plants may sometimes have berries of a pale green color which resemble the mistletoe berry. The poisoning occurs from contact with the sap of the plants touching the skin, or can be contracted by handling shoes and clothing which have been in contact with the juice.

Should you contract ivy poisoning or have contact with the plant, you can lessen the spread by following these simple suggestions:

1. Wash exposed area with rich soapy lather of ordinary soap, preferably in a shower so the acids will be washed off.
2. Don't irritate skin by scrubbing with a brush.
3. Clean finger nails well.
4. Dry body well and put on clean clothes.
5. Avoid use of cream or oily substances—they help spread the poisoning.
6. If irritation occurs despite these measures, be cautious and see your doctor. You may save yourself weeks of suffering.

Reds Call Youth To 'Naval Police'

Berlin, July 14 (AP)—Youth of Russian-occupied East Germany were called upon today to join the new "naval police" forces being organized by the Communist government.

The sea police are the marine arm of the dark-uniformed "People's Police," which the western powers have formally branded as an illegal Soviet-sponsored army being trained with outlawed infantry weapons and tanks.

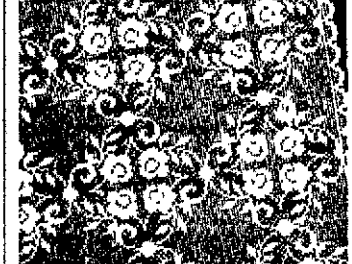

Anti-Communist sources in Berlin have claimed that the new naval forces are also to be equipped by the Russians with torpedo boats and other craft banned to the Germans under four-power agreements.

The officially announced purpose of these forces is "the control and protection" of East Germany's Baltic coastline.

The call to the youth to join the Communist naval forces was published in the "Junge Welt" (Young World), central organ of the Communist-controlled free German youth movement.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIRAUT, JR.

Webster Students Familiar Sight On Village Streets

Woodstock, July 14—Since the opening of The Margaret Webster Company at the Woodstock Playhouse July 1, there has been an active group of promising young actors and actresses buzzing about the village. They are by name, members of "The Margaret Webster Theatre School" and they number 12 girls and four boys. Their activities study and lecture periods with Lucia Victor, director of the school and Miss Webster. They represent all parts of the United States. One young man has already "had his first taste of the 'flesh and blood' theatre. He is Larry Hagaman, son of the famous star, Mary Martin who is such a roaring success in the current "South Pacific."

Woodstock residents have become familiar with the students by means of the 1931 Buick which transports them from the Tapscott Country Club where the school is located to the Playhouse each day. They paid $7 for the car and invested an additional $5 for an enormous cow bell which hangs from the side of the car. Hagaman is an accomplished guitar player and many evenings he serenades the students on their three mile trek home after the performance.

This week marks the birthday celebration of a member of the Margaret Webster Company. She is a lovely young thing one year old. She has beautiful long ears, sparkling blue eyes and is terribly playful. And her name is "Miss Moffat."

As you may have guessed by now the above mentioned is the terrier belonging to Miss Amy Chandler, personal secretary to Margaret Webster. The puppy was named so because she was born during Miss Le Gallienne's tour of "The Corn Is Green" last summer and by sheer coincidence it so happens that this week Miss Le Gallienne has again opened in this starring vehicle. Thus, a small celebration if the finest dog food with candles and the other animals belonging to Louise Horton, Eva Le Gallienne and Margaret Webster as guest marks the first anniversary.

Trio Ends Dardenne Concerts Thursday

Woodstock, July 14—The final in the series of three "Concert Dardenne" closed on a note of gaiety Thursday afternoon by the trio, Victor H. Dardenne, violinist, Lucien Laporte, cellist, and Norman Secon, pianist.

Opening the concert which was held on the lawn of Dardenne's Wittenberg home, the trio played the Largo of a Sonata for trio by J. B. Coelliet, a French composer of the 18th Century. Playing the Sonata in C for cello by Bach for the first time in Woodstock, Laporte played the cello, exhibited rich tonal quality throughout. Laporte played the original version for cello, and although the entire work is not frequently heard, the Bourree movement is more familiar having been transposed for piano and other instruments.

Also played for the first time in Woodstock was the Variation Piano on a Theme of Corelli, by Rachmaninoff which was played with a crisp, clear-cut interpretation by Norman Secon.

In the Trio of Schubert's, Dardenne, Secon and Laporte achieved a joyous unity throughout, outswelling to lyrical heights in the lovely second movement, closing with the sotto voce third, both so perfectly conveying the melodic tenderness so characteristic of Schubert.

After the concert a reception was held by Mr. and Mrs. Dardenne for the musicians and guests, followed by a buffet supper.

One young man in the group said he was beholding an actual play for the first time in his life.

"This is really wonderful," said the young lad between the second and third acts, "you really feel as though you were right in the story with the people." He was also excited at his first glimpse of Donald Buka, whom he said he had seen in many fine television productions.

836 Enrolled at New Paltz College Summer Session

Enrollment for the 1950 Summer Session at New Paltz State Teachers College, State University of New York, has risen to an all-time peak of 836 students, according to figures released by President William J. Haggerty. This number represents an increase of more than 40% over the total registration for the summer of 1949.

The summer program at New Paltz has been expanded considerably over previous years under the direction of Dean George W. Angell, who has been appointed director of the summer session. In addition to the large enrollment now in attendance at the New Paltz and Farmingdale campuses, three workshops will be held at New Paltz later in July and August—one for elementary school principals, one for driver education, and one dealing with the diagnosis and treatment of reading difficulties. These workshops, as well as several of the courses offered during the summer, were planned by Dean Angell as a result of a survey among school people of the region as to the particular needs which the summer program would most effectively serve.

Total registration includes 523 at New Paltz, and 313 at the New Paltz Center located on the campus of the Long Island Agricultural and Technical Institute, Farmingdale, L. I. The students at Farmingdale are enrolled in a special graduate program designed for college graduates who have had no previous professional preparation for elementary teaching. A similar group of 129 students are registered on the New Paltz campus. The program was set up in the summer of 1948 as an emergency measure to meet the crucial shortage of elementary teachers in New York State.

The second largest group includes 186 regular undergraduate students who are attending the session in order to hasten graduation. Enrollment in regular graduate courses leading to the Master's degree has increased more than 50% over last summer.

Students of other colleges taking summer work at New Paltz represent Barnard, Marymount, Syracuse, Vassar, Notre Dame, Hofstra, and many other leading colleges and universities of the country.

Also in attendance at the college are three groups of children, nursery and kindergarten, primary, and intermediate. These groups provide the campus student with opportunities for observation in connection with course work, at the same time giving the children the benefit of a planned program in the related arts, science, and various skills.

Called Virtual Murder

New York, July 14 (AP)—A 22-year-old mother who allegedly chained her two-year-old son to a bedpost with a dog collar shortly before he died of mysterious burns was denounced in Long Island City Special Sessions Court yesterday as "the virtual murderer of her own child." Presiding Justice Alvir W. Burlingame made the charge as he sentenced Mrs. Florence Mildred Schaffer, of 130-14 42nd street, Astoria, Queens, to an indeterminate prison term. Mrs. Schaffer was arrested April 21, three months after her son, Richard, died in a hospital of severe burns. She insisted the burns were caused when he accidentally fell into a bathtub of hot water.

Board Says Industry Unprepared for War

New York, July 14 (AP)—The National Industrial Conference Board says industry is inadequately prepared for wartime mobilization.

In a study completed prior to the outbreak of the Korean war, the Board said last night, it found only 19 of 150 firms surveyed had definite mobilization plans.

It proposed immediate enactment of war powers laws to be put into effect in an emergency, and asked for practical and workable planning.

The board is a business and industrial research organization.

Three-Car Smash Caused by Auto Ran From Curb

A car parked at the curb on Spring street at Broadway and three others were damaged when it rolled down the hill and also damaged a fire alarm unit at the intersection last night.

Officer Carl Janasiewicz reported at 9:08 p. m. that a sedan owned by Herbert Gallop, 13 East Strand, and parked by Mrs. Marjiam Gallop, struck the sedan of Bernard Donovan, 578 Delaware avenue, which in turn struck the car of Alton Ellsworth, 107 Abel street.

The Gallop car and Ellsworth's sedan were towed from the scene, the report said.

Police notified the fire department and the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. for repair of the alarm unit.

Want to Make Check
London, July 14 (AP)—Britain asked Moscow today to admit an impartial, international commission into Russia to investigate Soviet claims that only 13,546 German prisoners of war remain there. Russia announced May 4 that repatriation of German prisoners had been completed except for that number, chilling hundreds of thousands of Germans with relatives still missing.

Detroit Police Hunt Slayer of Scientist's Wife

Detroit, July 14 (AP)—The brutal slaying of a comely matron of Detroit's West Side sent police on a search for clues in a deepening mystery today.

Pretty Mrs. Vivian Stanley, 37, clad only in a nightgown and a housecoat, was found dead shortly before noon yesterday in a weed patch two miles from her home. The victim, wife of a scientist and mother of two children, had been garroted—with a rope or a chain, police said—and her neck was broken.

Police headquarters put its top sleuths to work on the case. Mrs. Stanley, wife of Crawford T. Stanley, a Detroit metallurgist, was killed about 11:30 p. m. Wednesday. It was near noon when a chance passerby in an alley came upon her body.

Her husband, on a fishing trip in Canada with a son, Thomas, 14, hastened home overnight and offered his aid to police. There is one other child, a daughter, Lucy, 7.

We'll Win: Walker
Somewhere in South Korea, July 14 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, taking command of U. S. forces in Korea, declared today "we are fighting in Korea the age-old struggle of freedom against tyranny." "The Army of the Republic of Korea has made a magnificent stand against heavy odds," the Eighth Army commander said. "There is no question whatever about the outcome of this struggle. We shall win."

With new summer styles pretty much in full swing, father is having his annual fit.

A Chicago drunk, heading for home, hailed a police cruiser instead of a taxi. He was taken to a new home.

We're hearing the old expression "What's up?" more and more these days—or didn't you plant a garden?

You can blame a man for getting impatient with a wife—generally speaking.

Some day some smart father is going to pass the hat instead of smokes when twins are born.

President Reviews Domestic Measures

Washington, July 14 (AP)—President Truman explored with his cabinet today the whole range of possible home-front mobilization measures but cabinet officers said no decisions were reached.

There was also a discussion of the military outlook. Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, gave a briefing on the military situation.

None of the cabinet officers who talked with reporters after the 45-minute meeting would say what Bradley had told them.

They also declined to say what specific home front measures were discussed but said the talks covered the whole range.

In Congress, any idea of giving Mr. Truman standby authority to impose economic controls ran into flat opposition from Senator Taft (R-Ohio).

Say 20,000 Troops Move
Hong Kong, July 14 (AP)—Independent newspaper reports said today that more than 20,000 Chinese Red troops entered strategic Tibet early this month. There was no confirmation. But observers agree such a move is logical. The Chinese Communists had announced their intention of bringing Tibet, mountain country north of India, under Red control.

Partial Report Is Made by Jury Here

One open indictment was returned this morning before Supreme Court Justice Harry E. Schirick when a partial report was made to the grand jury. The grand jury members will remain in session, returning next week at the call of District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn, and Justice Schirick adjourned the term until August 4 at 11 a. m.

Frank Ellis Baldwin of Marlborough was charged with burglary, third degree, and unlawful entry, alleged to have been committed on April 2. Charles J. Saccoccia appeared for the defendant, a plea of innocent was entered and the case transferred to County Court for disposition. Motions will be made later.

There were two sealed indictments handed up. These were transferred to the County Court. Two dismissals were also reported, one in the case of Leandro Lopez, Jr., New York, who had been held to answer to a criminal negligence charge growing out of the death of Roy Huggan at town of Shandaken. Bail was exonerated. The second dismissal was in the case of Joseph D. Raphael, who had been held for violation of Section 483. Bail in this case was also exonerated.

Russia Has Answer

Marienburg, Pa., July 14 (AP)—Dr. John M. Chang, South Korean ambassador to the United States, says only Russia has the answer as to whether or not World War Three will grow out of the Korean conflict. "That will depend a whole lot on the wishes of the Kremlin," Dr. Chang told newsmen here last night. "If they want to make an all-out invasion of Korea, the situation may become very serious." Dr. Chang was the guest speaker before the annual convention of the Pennsylvania Veterans of Foreign Wars.

retaries of the state were "defeating the world with speeches and statements overflowing with boastfulness." Russia was building tanks.

"And today," it added, "Even the memory of those speeches has vanished while those armored cars are conquering Korea and are about to hurl the Americans into the sea."

Il Momeno's conservative competitor, Il Tempo, which also supports the Christian Democrat government, took another view: "Don't be impatient," it said. "The Communists have enjoyed all the advantages of aggression including surprise and even using 60-ton Soviet tanks. In the end we shall see MacArthur's army coming back."

Little French Comment
The non-Communist press in France, while sympathizing with the Americans, has made little comment. The Conservative Le Monde saw in the battle the question of the prestige of two flags—the American and that of the United Nations.

The London Daily Express warned that the news from Korea might continue bad for another 90 days but predicted eventual victory.

Another leading London newspaper, the Liberal News Chronicle, warned "This is our fight." In traditional neutral Sweden, the Liberal Daily Aftonbladet said: "The five letters 'Korea' may one day symbolize the choice of all free peoples."

"To surrender everything that makes life worth living and submit to the basest, most cruel tyranny in world history—or to follow the example now set in the distant land of the morning calm by those ill-trained, ill-equipped American boys."

Russian Line Is

38th parallel which Russian and the western powers fixed as a boundary when Russia refused to allow a Korean-wide election?

Again, Mr. Truman said that decision will be made when it became necessary.

If the decision proves to be for continuing on northward, more military expenditures must be made.

Therefore, from all these current and potential situations the President, Secretary of Defense Johnson, and Congress and the strategy-making joint chiefs of staff must decide:

1. How much military strength can they afford to commit to Korea?

2. How much, if any, can be held back for coping with possible Communist surges in other sensitive areas?

3. How much more military manpower and industrial strength must be mobilized to meet existing and threatening conditions?

Know What They Have
They know what they have now. It is alarmingly simple—ten regular army divisions; an air force of 48 groups which is still changing over from old wartime models to planes of new design; a navy which has only about 80 combatant vessels in active service but still is by far the world's most powerful.

If new divisions are to be created, a year is required from the time the first recruits or draftees come into service to the day when the division is trained to fight as a unit and equipped to do so.

For this reason, an early decision on the question of calling into federal service units of the national guard is generally expected. Almost all guard divisions are organized into the components required for combat. They need only filling up with manpower from peacetime to wartime strength.

Hot Fight . . .
tensive in late morning and early afternoon. But vigorous American counter battery fire silenced the Red guns.

The Red artillery fire apparently was meant to cover the crossing.

In late afternoon the Red guns boomed again but three rounds smashed harmlessly behind American lines.

Could Be Exterminated
If the Communists across the river number under 200 men and if they were hit by artillery and air attacks they could be exterminated by infantry containing action.

But if their bridgehead is reinforced during the night they could make trouble.

The Communists had moved their tanks down the highway from Chochiwon some seven miles northward and used the tank guns as artillery weapons.

American artillery fire was credited with knocking out seven of 12 tanks. Four were blasted on the Chochiwon highway and three near Kongju.

The northerners in their Kun river crossing appeared to be pushing their successful strategy of flanking and encircling the Americans. They have used this plan brilliantly in their 45 mile advance since the Americans first went into action July 5 at Osan, 10 miles south of Suwon.

Advance American units still were heavily outnumbered—a regiment opposing a fresh, battle-tested Red division.

Lands on Head
Edward Reiff, 16, of 45 Lincoln street, suffered a head injury when he fell while jumping from tables and swinging from beams at Hutton Park last night. Officers Harry Martin and Frank Saffmons reported at 7:19 p. m. that young Reiff struck his head on a concrete floor when he fell. They took him home.

Denies Wholesale Shift
Budapest, Hungary, July 14 (AP)—Hungary admitted today that a certain part of the population along the Yugoslav border has been resettled but denied emphatically a wholesale shift of people from this area.

KOREA, HERE THEY COME

In the shuffling of commands, the Air Defense Command was eliminated and the eastern and western forces were given direct operational control over interceptor-fighter and all-weather fighter wings in their areas.

The Eastern Air Defense Force took over a number of Eastern Air Force bases, including Stewart and McGuire at Fort Dix, N. J. It also took over installations of all radar sites and air defense control centers in its area, the east coast to the eastern slopes of the Rocky Mountains.

One reason for the transfer was the crowded condition at Mitchell which is headquarters of the First Air Force and the Continental Air Command.

Church Council Approves Action
Toronto, July 14 (AP)—Leaders of the world's largest body of Protestant and Orthodox Church members last night approved United Nations military action in Korea but condemned any use of atomic or bacteriological weapons.

Representing 160,000,000 church adherents in 44 countries, the policy-making central committee of the World Council of Churches adopted a resolution urging also that a "just settlement" in Korea be sought through negotiation and conciliation.

With only two dissenting votes, the 90-member committee agreed: "Armed attack as an instrument of national policy is wrong. We therefore commend the United Nations, an instrument of world order, for its prompt decision to meet this aggression and for authorizing a police measure which every member nation should support."

"At the same time, governments must press individually and through the United Nations for a just settlement by negotiation and conciliation."

Endorses Statement
As a general principle applicable to the Korean situation, the committee unanimously endorsed this statement:

"Such methods of modern warfare as the use of atomic and bacteriological weapons and obliteration bombing involve employment of force and a destruction of life on so terrible a scale as to imperil the very basis on which law and civilization can exist."

"It is imperative that they be banned by international agreement and we welcome every sincere proposal to this end."

The statement was presented by Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati, O., chairman of a sub-committee which phrased it and a representative of the Protestant Episcopal Church to the annual meeting of the central committee.

The dissenting votes on the Korean statement were cast by the Rev. Edwin T. Dahlberg, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Syracuse, N. Y., and Algie L. Newlin of Guilford, N. C., representing the First Baptist Church, Religious Society of Friends.

British forces are battling Communists in Malaya and have been for several years. They also are standing guard over the British Crown Colony of Hong Kong on the border of Communist China.

France has the equivalent of about 10 divisions in action or on guard against the Communists in Indochina.

Britain and several other countries have already placed naval forces under MacArthur's command. France is expected to send a naval unit in the immediate future.

Difficulties Are Greater
From a strictly military point of view, officials said, the transportation and supply difficulties involved in putting international forces in the field and maintaining them there are far greater than the difficulties involved in joint naval and air operations.

Friendly foreign armies use weapons tactics and in most cases languages different from those of the United States. In some instances they would probably have to be required and even partially retrained in order to fight effectively in Korea.

An exception to this general problem would be the assignment of an entire division or army corps by another government to MacArthur's command. A large unit, fighting in a sector of its own, might not need close coordination with American forces and could employ fully its own weapons and tactics. It would, however, require special transport and supply arrangements.
